
ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE:

A method of forming a plurality of wiring lines on a board to form a printed circuit board

²
p by forming a plurality of lines on the board and etching a first line to form a first portion of the line that is thinner in height than a second portion thereof. A second line spaced from the first line may also be so etched.
